

I found this to be slightly easier than the previous lesson, mostly because the most difficult part of this challenge I already had dealt with in the previous lesson, so I could just copy and paste that code into here. I appreciate the fact the lessons gave me the building blocks so that it was quite simple to plan what I was going to do.